Memories: My favorite
high school memories,
besides the dumb ones
with my friends, were from teachers. Every day with Mr. Carey never left a dull moment even though I had him for two years. From the creation of his phone spa or just his hyperactive
enthusiastic attitude, too
many good times to write about.

Thanks Mr. Carey, don't ever change!

as a newbie from Africa
at the end of freshman year. I thought it would be a challenge but
thanks to my family,
teachers and friends it
was awesome, apart
from the

from the days i was trippin'.

Administration

Mr. Tim Piwowar Superintendent

To the Class of 2013.

I'm very proud to say that this class is the first class that I'm seeing graduate as superintendent. This is the class that brought home a state championship in cheerleading in the fall; that brought home a national championship from DECA in the spring; that received countless awards for art, music, and drama, and the class that even got Mr. Beckford dancing Gangnam Style at the pep rally on the Channel 7 news.

If you want to have success, you need to want to continue to learn and grow and make yourself better. In order to do that, it comes down to two simple and related ideas. The first is that you need to keep an open mind and be willing to challenge your assumptions. The moment that you think you have all the answers is usually the moment that the world decides to throw you for a loop and show you just how wrong you've gotten it.

The second idea that we need to listen... truly listen... to each other in order to get the feedback that not only affirms what we're doing well and keeps us motivated, but also gives us the ideas that we can use to make us the best that we can possibly be. Remembering that can be tough because what we often see modeled as discussion is exactly the opposite. Flip through the channels on your television at any time of the day and you can see people talking AT each other, not WITH each other – whether it's politicians or sportswriters or on reality shows – where the conversation is all about scoring points for your side and not furthering your understanding.

Think about the conversations in your own life that you've had – whether it's with a parent, or a friend, or a loved one, or a complete stranger – where the other person is talking and you spend more time thinking about what you're going to say next than actually listening to the words that are coming out of the other person's mouth. We all have to be better than that. And so, keeping in mind the importance of listening, I had the opportunity to sit down with a number of you in the cafeteria during the Senior Breakfast and ask you about your experiences at BMHS, what you loved about it, and what we could do better for the next group of students that comes through. I got to hear about the classes that excited you like American Legal Systems and Forensics and Independent Living. I got to hear about how many of you felt prepared academically but that your biggest worry was having to do laundry for the first time on your own. I also got the feedback that although we try to stress to you as students the ideas of keeping an open mind and listening, we also need to make sure that as educators, we do that ourselves.

Keep asking questions that challenge your assumptions and listen to what others have to say. Don't settle for good or great, just as BMHS moving forward won't settle for good or great. I promise to keep listening to what our students have to say in order to make BMHS better and ultimately the best - so that five or ten or even fifteen years from now, your diploma that says Billerica Memorial High School will be worth even more than it is today.

But you have to keep your end of the bargain. Think about the people that have been there to support you throughout your lives. Listen to their thoughts and advice because it will only serve to make you better than you are today. Especially listen to your parents – they've done a fantastic job helping you get to this point, and they know more than you think they know... besides, they may even help you figure out the laundry.

Thank you, and congratulations again to the Class of 2013

Assistant Superintendents

Dede Galdston Curriculum & Instruction

Sam Rippin Finance & Operations

Mr. Kevin Soraghan Principal

At your final assembly Ms. Biagiotti shared some memories as she spoke of your "evolution" while students at BMHS. She looked back fondly at what you accomplished, academically, athletically, in DECA, as performing and visual artists and so forth. She also spoke of your contributions to the community as you raised funds to support the homeless, those affected by severe weather and impacted by the tragedies at Sandy Hook and the Boston Marathon. When some among you needed support you were right there to offer your help. Each day provided you with the opportunity to learn something new as you evolved to where you are at this time.

With those experiences to fall back on, you are now commencing a new chapter in your lives. It is you who will now move forward as you pursue your individual goals. For some, that means immediately entering the job market. Others will attend college and may impact the future of medicine, entertainment, building design and education. Still others have opted to enlist in the military. It is these individuals who will be working to protect our freedom so that generations behind you will be able to experience what you have.

My final words to you as a class are brief...Continue learning and reaching for your individual goals. Do not be afraid to come out of your comfort zone to meet future challenges. Take advantage of opportunities as they present themselves and always acknowledge the network of support that guides you through this journey. While each of you has something different to contribute to society and much to look forward to, you share one common bond and leave here as a proud member of the BMHS Class of 2013!

Congratulations and Best of Luck! Kevin Soraghan

AFTER 82 YEARS IN OPERATION, Hostess Brands, the maker of Twinkies, Ding-Dongs and Wonder Bread, closed up shop. The company, which was in bankruptcy, planned to sell its assets, leaving a glimmer of hope that another company would bring back the much-loved confections. The end of Hostess shut down 33 bakeries, 565 distribution centers and 570 bakery outlets, and 18,500 jobs were lost.

IT'S PURR-FECT! A cat was added as the new Monopoly game piece. A vote on Facebook let people decide which new game piece should be added, and which should go. The iron was voted out.

THE U.S. AMBASSADOR TO LIBYA, J. Christopher Stevens, was killed along with three others during a terrorist attack on the U.S. Embassy in Benghazi on Sept. 11. Congressional hearings delved into the cause of the attack and the failure to protect the ambassador.

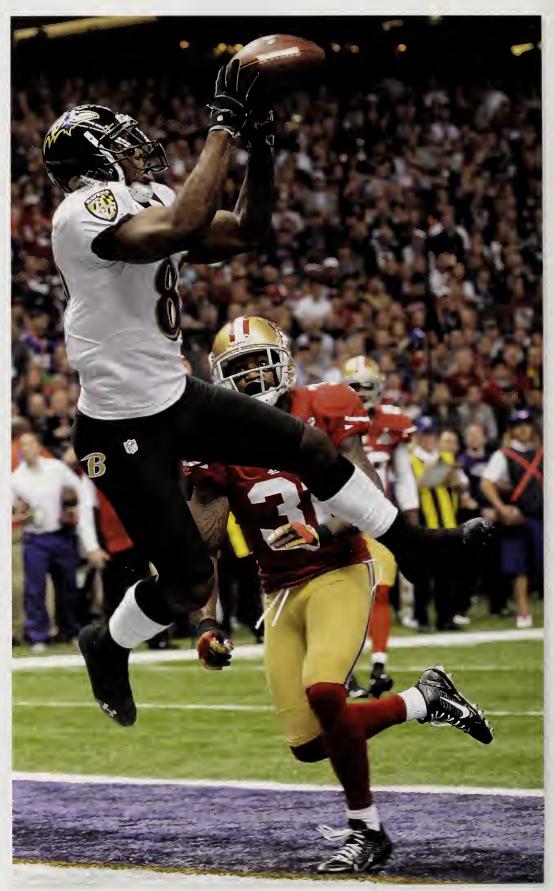

PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA, a Democrat, won re-election with 62.6 million votes - 51% of the popular vote and 332 electoral votes – over his opponent, former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney. Key battleground states, such as Ohio and Florida, went for Obama, as did a majority of women and minority voters. Republicans retained control of the House of Representatives, while Democrats kept control of the Senate.

NO MORE BIG GULP IN NEW YORK CITY. The sale of sugary drinks 16 ounces or larger was banned in the Big Apple at restaurants, movie theaters and street vendors. The move was the most recent in an effort by Mayor Michael Bloomberg to fight obesity.

SCIENTISTS CONFIRMED THAT KOSHIK, a 22-year old-elephant living in a South Korean zoo, had developed the ability to imitate human speech by tucking his trunk inside his mouth. Koshik's vocabulary included the Korean words for hello, no, good, sit down and lie down.

THE BALTIMORE RAVENS WON SUPER BOWL XLVII IN NEW ORLEANS, defeating the San Francisco 49ers 34-31. The game featured a brother vs. brother coaching matchup between Baltimore's John Harbaugh and San Francisco's Jim Harbaugh. The Ravens built a huge lead behind quarterback Joe Flacco and receiver Anquan Boldin before holding off a late 49ers rally, while both teams dealt with a 30-minute second half delay due to a power outage in the Superdome.

FACING A SELF-IMPOSED Jan. 1 deadline of forced, wide-ranging tax increases and spending cuts known as the "fiscal cliff," Congress passed the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012. The act extended the Bush era tax cuts but raised other taxes, including the Social Security part of the payroll tax. Passage of the act averted a recession at that time, and Congress continued its work by preparing to discuss spending cuts.

THE SUMMER OLYMPICS took over London and the world's attention in August. The U.S. won Gold for only the second time ever in the women's gymnastics team event. Gabby Douglas, McKayla Maroney, Aly Raisman, Kyla Ross and Jordyn Wieber became known as the "Fierce Five." Jamaican sprinter Usain Bolt became the first man to ever win the 100 and 200 meters in back-to-back Olympics. Swimmer Michael Phelps won six more medals to become the most decorated Olympian ever.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE OWNERS declared a player lockout less than a month before the start of the 2012-13 season. The labor dispute over revenues stretched into the new year, forcing the cancellation of more than 600 games before it was finally settled on Jan. 6., and the season began on Jan. 19.
